How it is Done.

Persons unacquainted with the art of printing inquired of us how in the world the Register could print a part of its paper in red ink and the balance in black. It is simply by printing one part in its office and getting the balance done at the CLIMAX office. The CLIMAX has the finest outfit in town.

—Clothing at prices never so low at Stouffer's. sept-29-6m

Crushed Rock on Free Pike Cost Less.

The Paris Reporter is authority for the statement that it costs only about half as much to put crushed rock on the pikes in Bourbon under the new system as it did when the pikes were toll roads. A careful account has been kept with the rock crusher and experienced turnpike men say that the cost is only one-half.

Hitchers, Spare the Tree.

We are requested by Mrs. Nancy Green to make a vigorous kick against the hitching of horses to the shade trees in front of her residence next door to the First Presbyterian church. This practice she has continuously sought to break up, but to no purpose. Hereafter, she will have all horses turned loose that are hitched in front of her house.

Big Farm Sold.

G. J. White & Son sold their farm of 912 acres, situated on the Berea and Kingston pike, last Saturday, to Jake Herndon for $29,000. Mr. Herndon is to pay $5,000 cash, $14,000 on the 1st inst., and the balance the first of January. Mr. Herndon will move his family to his new home as soon as Mr. White can locate some place and give possession.

Recovering From Self-Inflicted Wounds.

Miss Malin, with whom young Howe Crockett, of Nicholasville, was so desperately in love and for love of whom he shot himself, stays by his bedside night and day. They have become reconciled, and the young man now says he is anxious to get well. Their difficulty seems to have arisen out of a lover's quarrel. The groom was a student of Central University four years ago, and has many friends here, and at Versailles, where he was in the drug business.

We Have Henry-George With Us.

A reporter rushed into our office Friday with the announcement, "Henry-George is dead in New York." "Better not be dead if you expect to get the CLIMAX out this week," chimed in a duff of voices from the two Brevier cases. Looking over we saw the joke. Old Printer George White and young printer Henry Reid were sticking their side by side in a way that left no doubt in our mind as to their intimate existence. Henry-George set up this item. See?

Report of Sales.

Auctioneer Prentiss reports the sale of A. K. Estridge, administrator of J. L. Estridge, near Paint Lick, last Tuesday, well attended. One horse bought $41; 1 bull calf, $15; steers, $15.75; yearling heifer, $20.50; calves, $3.20 per hundred; one lot of steers, weight about 800 lbs., $23.75; one lot of 20 head, weight about 550 lbs., $25; 5 smooth, one-year-old steers, weight 750 lbs., $29.75; 5 two-year-old steers, weight 850 lbs., $31.75; corn, $1.75 per barrel; wheat 91 cents per bushel.

Beautiful and Valuable.

We were shown several specimens of curled maple by Real Estate Agent S. F. Roek, which was taken from lands controlled by him near Big Stone Gap. It was a judge of fine timber, this is certainly among the finest we have ever seen. Some specimens will be finished in oil within a few days, when the grain will show to the best advantage. Immense quantities of this timber is found on the lands in question. There is also bituminous coal, the several beds of which aggregate 100 feet in thickness.

That Ferged Circular. Who Did It?

A conspicuous and cowardly attempt to defame the Democracy consisted of a forged circular purporting to come from Mr. John B. Chenault, Chairman of the Democratic County Committee, appealing to free silver Democrats and deploring the Sound Money Democrats, etc., calculated to arouse the opposition of the latter to the Democratic ticket. The circular was unsigned and was sent only to Sound Money Democrats. Chairman Chenault promptly denied its authenticity and was unable to trace it to its source. However, his denial left no doubt that it was the trick of some Republican—a forgery at that.

A Mad Runaway in Town.

As Dr. A. Wilkes Smith was driving home on Friday evening to supper a piece of harness broke which allowed the buggy to run upon the horse, causing him to run away. The Doctor ordered his driver to jump out while he remained in the vehicle. The result was a collision with the carriage of Mr. J. S. Collins, which was standing in front of the latter's home. Instantly Mr. Collins' horse made a dash for liberty and although he kicked himself out of the shafts Miss Mary Collins, daughter of Mr. Joe Collins, held pluckily on to the reins. The two teams ran abreast on Main street, and when they were stopped it was found that Mr. Collins' vehicle had suffered considerably.

Jesse Alverson Swinging Around The Circle.

The Jesseamine Journal prints a good picture of one of the Interior-Journal's most faithful composers, with this comment, besides printing what his home papers have said about him: "Few young men in this section of the State are better known or have more friends than Jesse M. Alverson. He is a native of Nicholasville, having been born in the house on North Main street now occupied by Dr. W. H. Fish, and which was built by young Alverson's father, John L. Alverson, who moved from this place to Richmond about 20 years ago, where he died. Jesse Alverson left Nicholasville when quite a small boy, but his bright face and happy disposition has never been forgotten by the playmates of his early childhood."

Jess learned the printing business on the Register, and is now a steady, long-distance compositor. Success attend him and his.

A Foul Burst from the Stump of a Tree.

We expressly forbid any one to yell "Ghosts," "Evils," or "Other derisive terms of doubt." That which we are about to relate is a fact, and we will give five years subscription to the CLIMAX if it is not the truth.

While cutting wood two weeks ago, on the farm of Mr. Thomas J. Smith, which is located two miles from Richmond, on the Lancaster pike, Messrs. B. and Howard Cornelison cut down an old tree about three feet in diameter, and no sooner had the tree fallen than from the heart of the stump there exuded a stream of water, a perfect fountain, four feet high. The strange sight puzzled the men and they procured a two foot rod and sank it into the stump and ground the full length. The water is still flowing, and travelers on the Silver Creek road may satisfy themselves by inspecting the spot, which is three hundred yards from the pike, opposite Enoch Gray's house, on Taylor's Fork, where Daniel Boone at one time drank water.

Swinging Round The Circle.

The aggregation of Republican big guns, which the past week had been on various places, it could be said, Thursday night, at the house of Senator W. J. DeLoe, Dr. W. G. Hunter, Candidate J. G. Bailey, ex-Congressman John Henry Wilson, ex-Legislature R. Black, Kinsey J. Hampton, Geo. Denny, Van Denny, Ethelbert Scott and Thomas Buchanan, the latter a newspaper reporter for the Louisville Commercial. The itinerary for the day began at Middleburgh and speeches were made at that place, then to Paducah, Paducah, La. Artens, Barlowville, Louisville, Gray's, Wildie, Berea, and the L. & N. water tank. In order to avoid the embarrassment of a small reception at the depot the train arrived ahead of time and Billy DeVore's bus was used by the party to transport them to the court house. Here a large crowd had assembled and speeches by first one and then the other were made. Mr. B. J. Clay was Chairman and introduced the speakers. The party started out, like McKimley's Binetial Commission, on a wild goose chase and the result is three came, were seen and forgotten.

Sad Story of Suicide.

The Cynthia Courier tells of the suicide of Miss Mary Burns as follows: "Tuesday morning, Miss Mary K. Burns, aged 23 years, committed suicide at the home of her father, Mr. Edward H. Burns, four miles out on Trium pike."

"For some years Lynn Taylor had been paying assiduous attention to Miss Burns, and the date of their marriage had been announced. Last Thursday he came to town and procured the necessary license which name the 23rd, Saturday, as the date. For some reason the wedding was postponed, and the date of their marriage had been postponed. The date of their marriage had been postponed. The date of their marriage had been postponed."

Had it not been for the water works during the long drought untold suffering would have been endured by men and beast in this city.

As it was, the citizens of Richmond were living in comparative comfort whilst the earth around us was parched, the ponds, wells and springs dried up, cattle famishing and people thirsting for a draught of the cooling liquid with which we here were so abundantly supplied.

It is said that Lake Rober, the 40-acre reservoir of the Richmond Water Company, contained enough water to supply Richmond for three years without a drop of rain. There is no politics in this paragraph of thanks-giving; all should praise the day when we voted the tax for this great public necessity. May the company do nothing to detract from the honor that is due them for their unflinching fidelity to the city during these trying times, when burning thirsts were quenched, parched gardens and yards revived, and our property protected from the fire fiend, when otherwise a spark would have set the whole city in a blaze.

Mr. A. C. Green Close to the Top in The K. of P. Grand Lodge.

The Kentucky Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, in session at Frankfort this week, had the largest attendance in the history of the institution. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Grand Chancellor—J. B. Settle. Grand Vice-Chancellor—A. C. Green, of Richmond. Grand Prelate—W. M. Powers, Carrollton. Grand Keeper of Records and Seal—Wade Sheiton, Louisville. Grand Master of Exchequer—Jule Plumber, Newport. Grand Master at Arms—J. T. Horner, Covington. Grand Inner Guard—R. L. Slade, Berry. Grand Outer Guard—Lee Owens, Frankfort. Supreme Representatives—T. B. Matthews and C. F. Minot. Col. A. J. Lovely and A. C. Adair, represented Rathbone Lodge, of this city.

Wednesday evening the delegates were tendered a "smoker" by the local lodge, at which cigars and refreshments were served in royal style. Middleburgh gets the Grand Lodge next year. Paducah wanted it, but gave in gracefully when Middleburgh won.

Mr. Green is one of the most zealous Knights in Kentucky and ought to go to the top next year.

Largest Vote Ever Registered.

For comparison with the vote cast yesterday and for future reference only, since the election is over, we publish the result of the registration in Richmond. The number registered on the regular registration day, some weeks ago, was 972; on the supplemental registration days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, 63 votes were added, of which 6 were put down as National Democrats, 23 Republicans and 34 Democrats. Therefore, the total registration was as follows: Democrats . . . . . 624 Republicans . . . . . 444 Total . . . . . 1030

Various and Sundry . . . . . 71 Democratic plurality over the Republicans, 76. Democratic majority over Republicans, 10. Independent voters, 34. Gold Democrats, 5. See if the full vote was cast yesterday.

Mr. Lister to Have a Distinguished Visitor, Who Was Wounded in the Battle of Richmond.

The congregation of Mr. Lister will be regaled with an intellectual treat on Sunday morning next when A. M. Atkinson, of V. A. Bush, Ind., will speak on "Ministerial Relief." He is one of the most enthusiastic laborers in the noble cause which has for its object the establishment of a Relief Fund for the relief of ministers of the Christian church. Mr. Atkinson was wounded in the Battle of Richmond, near Mt. Zion church, and has always desired to speak in the building which was shelled by guns of the armies and which was used as a hospital on that sanguinary occasion. Mr. Atkinson exemplifies his appeals for aid by spending his valuable time, paying his own expenses, and giving the cause of his large income than any other individual. His address, under the circumstances, cannot fail to be interesting and instructive. Admission free.

Special Election.

The temperance people of the Glade Magisterial District have secured an election, under the new local option law, with the purpose of thoroughly establishing the prohibition of the saloon business throughout the Glade district. The boundaries of the district have been considerably changed since it has been a local option district.

The opening rally of the campaign is to be held at Berea, on Saturday, November 13. From reports received it will be a great occasion. Guns will be fired at sunrise, military drill by Union and Confederate veterans, followed by a short parade including a regiment of school children, will fill the time from 10 to 12. Hot coffee will be served to the crowds, who are expected to bring back luncheons. At 1 p. m. the speaking will begin. Rev. G. W. Young and other distinguished speakers will participate. Glade is not likely to do things by halves.

Program of Teachers Association.

The Teachers Association will be held at Kingston High School Hall, Saturday, November 6th:

Farris, should Vocal Music be Taught in the Public Schools? Miss Nannie Tudor. The Needs of the Public Schools and How I will Supply them . . . Prof. J. W. Wagers and Mrs. J. L. Hill.

DEATHS.

Mr. Wooten is a sister of Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, on Lancaster Avenue, and Miss Mary Belle Miller, of Winchester, and has many friends in this place, the home of her birth.

The gentle waiting to immortal life of one endowed with a spirit of Christian fortitude and mourned most by those who knew her best, leaves a husband and two children to tread alone the pilgrimage of life. She was a loving wife and dutiful mother that was taken away, but many precious ties yet remain, to know together the broken link in holier and more sacred bonds than before, when they reared the hallowed memory of the absent one. The remains were taken to South Point, Ohio, for burial, being accompanied by living friends enroute. JAV. ELL. ESE.

Mrs. Colyer Improving.

Mrs. Hugh Colyer, wife of our newly elected Democratic Sheriff, is rapidly recovering from the bruises and fractured rib suffered by the overturning of her buggy recently. It seems that her horse shied at a tramp who was sitting on the roadside, and the buggy was upset, throwing Mrs. Colyer and daughter on the pike. Instead of going to her assistance the miserable cause of the wreck picked up his knapsack and proceeded on his way.

On Sunday afternoon a duplicate of the above mishap was narrowly avoided in front of Mr. James Bennett's home on the Lexington pike. A carriage with a mother and children was passing and at that instant another tramp suddenly arose with his knapsack, ordered the horse to shyn, and but for the skillful reinsman's quick work the whole outfit might have been upset. There is no desire to prevent a man from traveling the public highways, but when you see one of these poor creatures on his pilgrimage with a bundle on his back and his head between his knees, look out for breakers.

A Jolly Night.

Mr. Edwin Travers will be seen in this city this season in a new role—that of Samuel Selwyn in "A Jolly Night." This is a new departure for Mr. Travers. That he will add laurels to his already splendid reputation as a comedian, those who have seen him as "Captain Redwood," the detective, in A. M. Palmer's Company, presenting "Jim the Penman," and "Douglas Catmole," in Gillette's "The Private Secretary" will not doubt for an instant. Mr. Travers has been playing the latter role for the season, and given the audience a fine time "The Private Secretary," under his management, has charmed thousands of people, the play having been presented by him in almost every city in America, and in London and all the English provinces. In abandoning "The Private Secretary," Mr. Travers feels that he has a new character in every way the equal of his former characterization, and he is sanguine in the belief that "A Jolly Night" is fully equal to it for interest and substance of it, said Mr. Travers, to a New York critic recently, "is that I have given you one great comedy, which is now too old, for another great comedy that is new."

Mr. Travers' company includes this season F. K. Wallace, E. Gorman, Dean Raymond, Charles Barrington, Maude Cooling, Alice Barrington, Norma Hyatt, Master George Morrison, the sweet-voiced youngster, and others. As a prelude to the comedy, that charming, pathetic and touching little story of "Forget-Me-Nots" will be offered, and during the evening a number of new and novel musical numbers will be introduced in addition to other special attractions. Initials by Mr. Barrington, dancing by Miss Barrington, and singing by Miss Hyatt.
